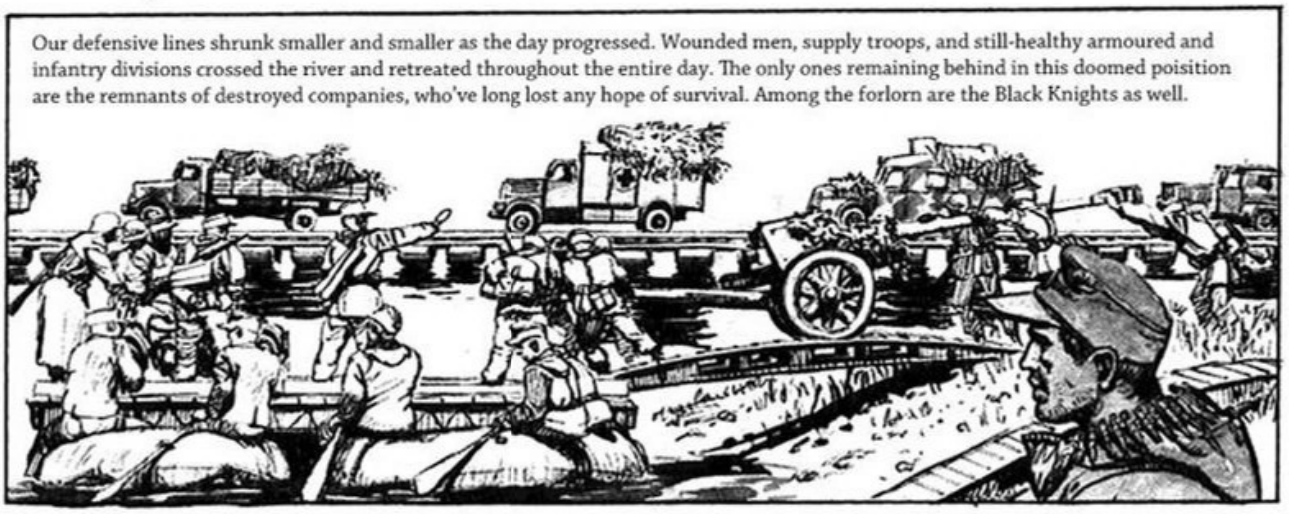
Episode 13
Black Knight's Black Wednesday

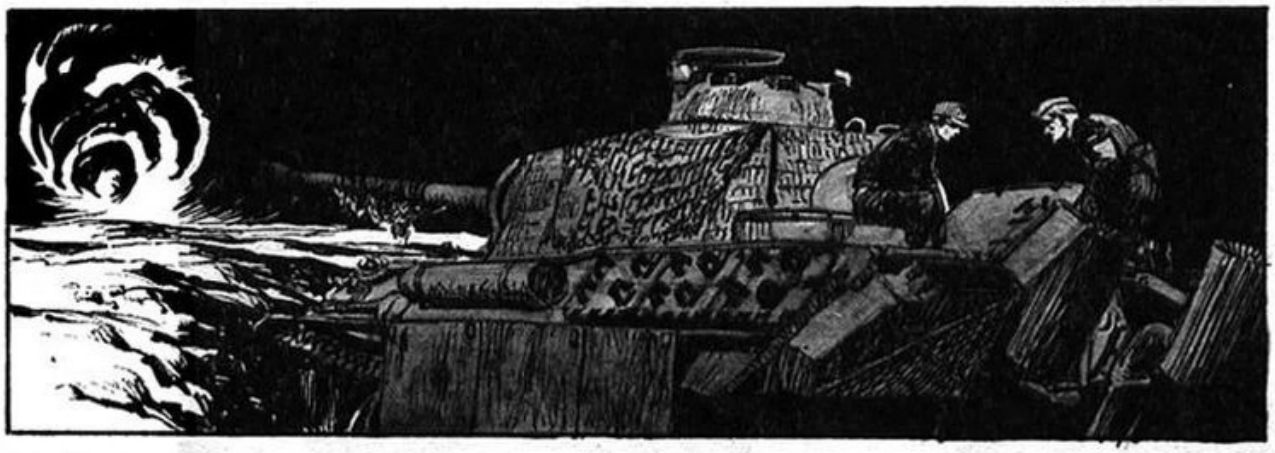
It's been one full day since our company commander went missing after going out for reconaissance. We've sent search parties twice after that, but we could not find any leads as to his whereabouts amidst the chaos of our collapsing lines.



Our defensive lines shrunk smaller and smaller as the day progressed. Wounded men, supply troops, and still-healthy armoured and infantry divisions crossed the river and retreated throughout the entire day. The only ones remaining behind in this doomed poisition are the remnants of destroyed companies, who've long lost any hope of survival. Among the forlorn are the Black Knights as well.

ENEMY AIR RAID!

DAMN YOU ALL!



Do you hear that? Damn Ivans are singing...

Why wouldn't they be? I sang too when we were advancing on Moscow. ...This engine's dead for good.

Halt! Do you have the permit to cross!?

BAKOOM
BUKYOOM
ENEMY ATTACK!

HECKEL TO JECKLE! ENEMY TANKS AT SECTORS G, H, AND M!

FIRE!

BK2 to BK1! Did you see that, Kurz!? PaK fire didn't do jack shit!
Roger! Will try firing again at 1200m!
Enemy tanks!
Don't run or you'll be shot!

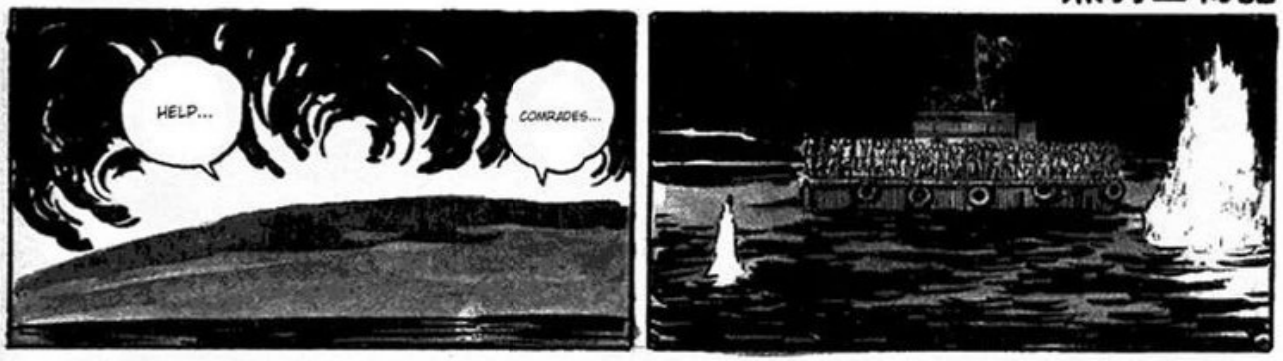
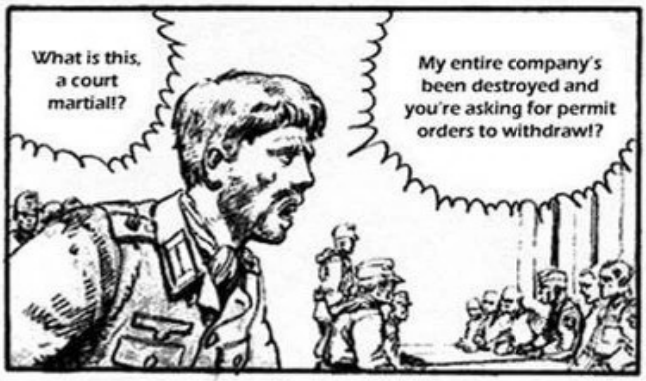
Fuck this, let's get outta here!
Quickly! The last barge is about to leave!
SCHNELL!
BANG!
H... HELP!



HELP...
COMRADES...

Advance in an orderly line!

What company did you belong to?
What happened to your company's supplies, Lt.?



What is this, a court martial!?
My entire company's been destroyed and you're asking for permit orders to withdraw!?

Hand over your military journal to them, Sgt.

Hmm... So what happened to the tanks in your company?
Did you lose your company along with all its ammunition and supplies?

I was forced to abandon my tank due to engine failure. There were only 5~6 rounds of 75mm left.

Why didn't you stand and fight to the end?

You failed to fulfill your duties, Sgt.
I respectfully object, sir! I fought as hard as I could!
Then why did you abandon your tank?
Kurz, I've come for you.
It's him!
Alright, this farce of a trial's over. The Ivans are already almost here. You must be blind if you're busy persecuting brave Germans now of all times.
This is unacceptable!
Kiss my ass!
